

TransGrid in the Community

TransGrid has an ongoing commitment to our communities and to the 3 million homes and businesses that rely on us to keep them connected 24/7.

In operating and maintaining a safe, reliable network our people work across the state to ensure you have access to the electricity you need, when you need it.

We understand the impact this work may have and the need to behave responsibly in undertaking it. We do this in a number of ways.

At a grassroots level, we provide support by contributing through our Community Partnership Program to a variety of local initiatives in the communities in which we work.

Environmental partnerships are another vehicle through which we demonstrate responsibility to our communities. We also have a role in shaping the future of the grid and with this in mind we are always on the lookout for ways that we can support our industry through education and diversity initiatives.

TransGrid's BeSafeKids Program

BeSafeKids is an engaging program that educates children about electrical safety and designed to educate children about the importance of safety around common electrical items and TransGrid's assets. The program is targeted at communities where we are actively working or have assets nearby.

BeSafeKids covers a range of areas including:

- > Staying safe around TransGrid's assets and electricity.
- > History of electricity.
- > Brief overview of TransGrid, including our environmental commitment.

The BeSafeKids program is free, and can be presented to one classroom or the whole school.

Investing in our community

TransGrid has established a Community Partnerships Program to benefit local communities where TransGrid assets are located, being built or upgraded throughout the network.

The Community Partnerships Program provides financial assistance to not-for-profit groups to assist in the delivery of local community initiatives.

To be eligible for funding, applicants must demonstrate how their initiative will provide a lasting or tangible benefit to the community. Preference will be given to initiatives which improve or promote at least one of the following areas:

- > Public safety and wellbeing
- > Health and education
- > The environment

TransGrid and the environment

As a responsible business, we have a strong commitment to conducting our activities and services in a manner that protects the environment and complies with relevant legislation, industry standards and codes of practice.
